

MINISTRY OF SCIENCE AND HIGHER EDUCATION OF THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION
The Federal State Autonomous Educational Institution of Higher Education

«Far Eastern Federal University»
(FEFU)

Oriental Institute – School of Regional and International Studies
(OI-SRIS)

«APPROVED» by
Director of OI-SRIS

E.E. Vlasov

«19» 01 2024г.

PASSPORT OF EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

| | |
|--|--|
| Name of educational program | 41.04.05 International Relations Russia in the Asia-Pacific: Politics, Economics, Security (in English) |
| Head of educational program | Zolotukhin Ivan Nikolaevich Candidate of Political Science, Associate Professor Phone number: +79502855982, e-mail: zolotukhin.in@dvvfu.ru |
| Program holder | Oriental Institute – School of Regional and International Studies Department of International Relations |
| The number of budget places/ the number of contract places | 12 / 30 |
| Form of study | Full-time |
| Implementation language | English |
| Training period | 2 years |
| Description of the program | Graduates of the program will learn to understand international, economic, political and legal issues in the Asia-Pacific region (APR), analyze international processes and events, conduct expertise, provide consulting and other services on international issues, formulate and develop regional strategies, and actively develop international relations. Students will have an opportunity to participate in research and expert analytical work, develop professional skills which will allow them to apply for leadership positions in organizations and companies related to international relations. Graduates will learn to conduct research in the field of international relations and compose analytical materials in English. They will be able to develop international business strategies, organize international negotiations, and manage international projects. Graduates will be able to work in governmental agencies, international organizations, foreign business structures, PR and news agencies, think tanks, and research organizations. |
| Key disciplines of the program | Global security. International political economy. Russia and issues of international law in the Asia-Pacific. |

| | |
|--|---|
| | International relations in North-East Asia. English academic writing. Foreign policy analysis. Intercultural communication in international relations. Oriental languages for specific purpose (Chinese, Japanese, Korean). Spanish for specific purpose. Russian as foreign language for specific purpose. |
| Description of the target audience of the program | Foreign citizens who are interested in gaining knowledge and competencies in the field of international relations. Russian citizens who speak English fluently and intend to deepen existing or acquire new knowledge in the field of international relations. |
| Industry, research and/or industrial organizations involved in the implementation of the educational program | Representative office of the Russian Foreign Ministry in Vladivostok, regional governments, «Russkiy Mir Foundation», Russian Institute for Strategic Studies (RISI), general and honorary consulates in Vladivostok, Institute of History, Archeology and Ethnography of the Peoples of the Far East, Far Eastern Branch of the Russian Academy of Sciences, IMEMO RAS. |
| Fields of activity of program graduates | Graduates will be able to work as managers, heads of departments, leading specialists, employees of institutions of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and consulates, researchers and teachers. |

Head of educational program

 /Zolotukhin I.N.